A reservoir dam is to be constructed at the point described above, of sufficient height to store all unappropriated waters, and particularly the flood waters and underflow. From thence the waters are to be carried down the natural water courses to points of diversion into three main canals. The head of the upper one is to be near Shoshone Point, in T. 33 N., R. 48 E., and it is to extend around the south side of Battle Mountain Basin, a distance of about 90 miles. The head of the second canal is to be near Rocky Point in T. 32 N., R. 46 E., and it is to extend along the north side of the same basin, a distance of about 50 miles. The head of the lower canal is to be near Golconda, in T. 36 N., R. 40 E., and it is to extend along the south-east side of the valley, a distance of about 50 miles. This application is made for the purpose of using the waters for irrigation under the Carey Act, and in connection with waters stored in other reservoir sites within the Humboldt Basin.

PROTESTED J.H. Clemmons Oct. 27, 1910

This is to certify that I have examined the within application for a permit to appropriate the public waters of the State of Nevada, and hereby deny the same on the ground that the applicant after due notice given, in accordance with office letter dated February 3rd, 1915, has failed to comply with the order of the State Engineer in making the necessary showing of financial ability to prosecute to completion the works necessary to perfect this appropriation in accordance with law. The independent investigation of this office indicating that the application is speculative is therefore deemed and held to be correct, thus making the approval of the application detrimental to the public welfare.

Witness my hand this 4th day of March, 1915.
W. W. Kearney
State Engineer.
