Remarks:

This water was used for stock watering purposes prior to 1886 by a man by the name of Moore, affiant's predecessor in interest.

That about the year 1903 claimant installed a trough 16 feet long by 24 inches deep by 24 inches wide with an iron pipe 1½ inches in diameter leading from the creek into a trough; that later after the first trough was destroyed a new trough was installed which is now in place and which is approximately 14 feet long by 16 inches wide on bottom and approximately 2 feet wide on the top by 16 inches deep. After the first trough had been destroyed, and was no longer fit for use, claimant constructed a small reservoir where the old trough was and the water is now held in this reservoir and is led into the present trough by means of the trough being sunk partly in the ground with holes in the side next to the reservoir which allows the water to enter the trough.
