These flows are required for the recreational purpose of natural spawning of Lahontan cutthroat trout and cui-ui in the Truckee River below Derby Dam, to fulfill the purposes of the establishment of the Pyramid Lake Indian Reservation, to provide sustenance for the members of the Pyramid Lake Indian Tribe and income to the Tribe, to prevent the loss of and to conserve the endangered cui-ui and the threatened Lahontan cutthroat trout, for operation of Marble Bluff Dam and Pyramid Lake Fishway in support of that fishery and to maintain Pyramid Lake at a stable level to support the lake's use for recreation.

2B. The second component of the amount of water applied for is for the maintenance of the level of Pyramid Lake. For this purpose, an average annual inflow of the Truckee River to the lake of approximately 400,000 acre-feet is required. Based upon the historic flows of the Truckee River and the existing diversions from and depletions of those flows, the Applicant's intent is to appropriate all of the water in the Truckee River and its tributaries that is not subject to valid existing rights.

12. The water sought to be appropriated pursuant to this application has been used historically and will continue to be used for recreational purposes including being used to help maintain Pyramid Lake at a stable level to support use for recreation, to fulfill the purposes of the establishment of the Pyramid Lake Indian Reservation, to provide sustenance for the members of the Pyramid Lake Indian Tribe and income to the Tribe, to prevent the loss of and to conserve the endangered cui-ui and the threatened Lahontan cutthroat trout, to improve and maintain water quality and quantity in Pyramid Lake and the Truckee River downstream of Derby Dam, to provide flows for the operation of Marble Bluff Dam and Pyramid Lake Fishway and to provide suitable flows at proper temperatures for the natural spawning of Lahontan cutthroat trout and cui-ui in the Truckee River downstream of Derby Dam.

The Tribe claims that it is entitled to the water that is the subject of this application as a matter of federal law. That claim is currently being litigated in United States v. Truckee-Carson Irrigation District, et al., Civil No. R-2987-RCB, U.S. District Court for the District of Nevada. This application is therefore filed for protective purposes. By the filing of this application, the Pyramid Lake Paiute Tribe does not waive or relinquish its claim of right to any of the waters encompassed in this application.
