The Claim 710 Lloyd Ditch diversion dam was destroyed in 1951 by Carson River flooding, and related vested right claims were changed by Permit 14095 to a downstream sump pump (see Permit 14095 "Remarks"). Decree D-183 BRT subsequently issued in 1980 defines the ditch diversion for Claim 710 rights as "Lloyd", though the POD had been changed by Permit 14095. The Permit 14095 sump pump is no longer in use, and the Claim 710 POU can be irrigated through the Mexican Ditch. Permit 14095 is superceded by Claim 710, and will be withdrawn upon approval of this change application, and the sump pump and diversion dam removed.

16. Miscellaneous remarks:

Decree Lloyd Ditch POD aliquot description NW 1/4 "BW 1/4" Sec. 35 is an error. Existing Item #6 POD under this change application, as suggested by discussion with Federal Water Master's Office, is based on POD description under Permit 14095, which had previously changed POD of undetermined vested right from Lloyd Dam to river pump station.
