(20) Remarks: Bryan Creek is an intermittent stream which flows to the original Point of Diversion (indicated on the attached map) about eight months a year. The land was originally sold to Robert A. Cambell by Cash Entry Patent from President Andrew Johnson, February 5, 1869, "together with all rights, privileges, immunities, and appurtenances of whatever nature". See inclosure number three, Cash Patent 366. Title to this property has passed by Fee Simple Deed from that time to the present owner Grant J. Weise.

The only known dwelling in the area was the old Bryan Ranch, after whom the creek was named. The ranch house was located at the sight of the Point of Diversion on the attached map, and is evidenced today by a stand of poplar trees which surrounded the old house. The original diversion was an earth dam which has been replaced several times during the past 15 years by the present owner, Mr. Weise. Other improvements include a 12 inch culvert which is still in place.
