Ground Water Monitor Well
Abandonment
Hydro Conduit
Sparks, Nevada

This letter describes the abandonment of three ground water monitoring wells at Hydro Conduit located in Sparks, Nevada. The wells were installed as part of the remediation program for Hydro Conduit located at 999 Marietta Way, Sparks, Nevada.

In accordance with Regulation 534.420 of the Revised Statutes for Water Wells and Related Drilling, drilling was commenced on April 27, 1992. Drilling was accomplished by a truck mounted CME 55 hollow stem auger drill rig. The wells were abandoned by a driller licensed in the state of Nevada to construct ground water monitoring wells. Ground water levels were measured in all three wells, (M-1), 9.8 feet, (M-2), 9.8 feet, (M-3), 9.5 feet. (See Plate 1 for locations of the wells). Abandonment of the three wells involved drilling through the existing wells to depths of 14 feet at M-1, 19.5 feet at M-2 and 15 feet at M-3. A two inch rigid pipe was inserted through the center of the augers before the augers were removed to insure that the wells would be filled from total depth of the wells to the surface. Neat cement was pumped into the borings through the pipe until the cement was at the surface then the pipe was removed while the cement was being pumped through it until the borings were completely full to the ground surface. Approximately one yard of neat cement was pumped into the borings. The mix design was 5 - 1.
